Ordering and Remitting

Any book listed in this catalogue is subject to a change in price without notice. Books sent by mail are at the purchaser's risk.

Prices given in the catalogue are subject to the usual discount to booksellers and to schools purchasing in quantity.

We handle only our own publications and cannot fill orders for books of other publishers.

In ordering please give the exact title of the book wanted, and if the book is published in two editions—e.g. with or without vocabulary, with or without answers, old edition, revised edition, complete or abridged—or in different styles of binding, state which form is desired. Please state also whether books are to be sent by mail, express, or freight, and name the nearest express or freight office to which books shall be sent if the post office is not a railroad station. We always wish to send our customers exactly what they want, and we request them to aid us by being exact in their orders.

Our rule is to fill all orders the day they are received. At just the time when schools open, orders are so many and so large that this is not always possible, and delays may occur in spite of our best efforts. These delays will be avoided by placing your orders early.

To avoid delay and the keeping of many little accounts, it is always preferable that small orders be accompanied by cash, postal order, or cheque. Remittances may be made by post-office order, registered letter, draft on Toronto, and by express money order.

THE CANADIAN MACMILLAN'S Complete Price List

IN CONSTA

THE UNDYING FIRE. A novel by H. G. WELLS. $1.50 net.

New York Sun: "The Undying Fire", coming at this time, is probably Wells' greatest service, as well as one of his finest books to be read and pondered and re-read and argued over it will reach tens of thousands.

THE GAY-DOMBEYS. A novel by SIR HARRY JOHNSTON. $1.75 net.

New York Times: "The untroubled out-pouring of a mind richly stored with experience, a worth-while commentary on the men and events of the period with which it deals."

MARY OLIVIER. A novel by MAY SINCLAIR. $1.75 net.

The sheer power of character analysis which made "The Tree of Heaven" and "The Belfry" two of the very most notable war novels, is abundant in "Mary Olivier". Once again Miss Sinclair has shown a theme of vital interest.

OUR HOUSE. A novel by HENRY SEIDEL CANBY. $1.00 net.

The Macmillans are proud to publish so distinguished a "first novel". Mr. Canby's story places him with the great realists writing today: Wells, May Sinclair, Bennett and Walpole. It is pre-eminently a story for the tasteful reader.

THE BLACK DROP. A novel by ALICE BROWN. $1.75 net.

"He had a black drop in his blood; God knows where he got it!" This is the keynote of Miss Brown's new story. Never has Miss Brown's art as a word artist been more surely, more convincingly demonstrated.

LEGEND. A novel by CLEMENCE DANE $1.75 net.

Clemence Dane can always be counted upon to do something original. Few novelists have appeared of recent years who have been accepted so wholly by critic and discerning reader as Miss Dane. She has never written more vividly, more forcefully, than in this latest work.

A STORM IN A TEACUP. A novel by EDEN PHILLPOTTS. $1.75 net.

This carries on Mr. Phillpotts' series of novels dealing with the human side of the different industries. Here the art of paper making furnishes the background. The theme is somewhat humorous in nature.

JOAN AND PETER. A novel by H. G. WELLS. $2.00 net.

Never has Mr. Wells spread for us such a gorgeous panorama. A living story, a vivacious narrative imperturbable in interest on every page, always fresh and personal and assured. This is not a novel; it is a library.
